MANSFIELD TRAINING SCHOOL BAND AND CHORUS

RETARDED CHILDREN
CAN BE HELPED

The Mansfield Training School, located on 107th street of rolling countryside in Eastern Connecticut, is the State's oldest residential facility for the mentally retarded. Mansfield is recognized both nationally and internationally as one of the world's great centers for the care, education and training of the mentally retarded. At Mansfield, emphasis is placed upon helping the retarded children and adults reach their highest physical and mental potential.

Mr. Joseph Romero, Mansfield's Director of Music, has surrounded himself with the school's finest musicians and presents an album of music and song that is a fresh, interesting experience and further proof of the potential of the mentally retarded.

I learned one of the reasons why the Mansfield Training School has earned a reputation as a national leader among institutions for the mentally retarded while I was preparing a case study of their music program for presentation at the 1970 meeting of the International Society for Music Education in Moscow, Russia. At that time I was privileged to see the entire music curriculum in action—behind the scenes as well as finished performances—and it was a real revelation.

People from as far away as Japan have come to observe this program. If you've seen the televised messages sponsored by the National Association for Retarded Children, you've seen some of the musicians who are trained here. Maybe you own their first recording, done a few years ago, or saw them at the Special Olympics for the Mentally Retarded in Chicago. They've been there twice, the second time under the sponsorship of some of the Notre Dame alumni. (Listen for the Notre Dame Victory Song in the first medley.) If you live in the Northeast, you may have seen them in person, because they are invited here, their appearances usually in public schools and at other civic events.

Their reception in Moscow was also enthusiastic. Although the Russians only saw slices and heard tips and commentary on the program, a delegation sought me out and asked me to convey to the people of the United States that the Mansfield music program embodies their own ideals of music for everyone, no matter what their handicaps.

And handicapped they are. Except for the instructional staff who joined the band to make this recording (Edward Gerry, Instrumental Instructor, William Nemecoff, band Director, Glenn Tafi, Accompanist and Arranger, and Joseph Romero, Director of Music), almost all the performers are blind in addition to being retarded. These are not professional musicians, but retardates being prepared to return to their home communities where they can function with the help of family and community services. That they are given the opportunity to make music at all is due largely to the generosity of Frances P. Kelley, Superintendent of Mansfield Training School. The fact that they do it with such polish is absolutely amazing.

It's also important to understand that while these groups represent the peak of the music program, they do not represent the entire music program. Some less well-known activities are described in this excerpt from the formal study done for the UNESCO-sponsored Moscow Conference.

SCHOOL MUSIC PROGRAM

The music program operates at several levels through the work of the four staff members mentioned above and Gerardo De Leo and Shirley Mogelmilch, Vocal and Classroom Instructors. Some of the residents receiving music therapy are completely helpless, physically malformed individuals who will be institutionalized indefinitely. In some cases, music is one of the few things in their lives to which they respond. It serves as the stimulus that elevates them from an ordinarily unresponsive, institutional existence, offers them enjoyment, and motivates them to beneficial physical movements. Activities set to music at this level lead toward objectives which seem to us to be extremely simple, which are major tasks for the severely and profoundly retarded. An apparently easy task such as clapping the hands requires a great deal of concentration and coordination. Some participate by playing rhythmic instruments, an even greater accomplishment. Since this requires them to grasp and hold an object in their hands.

Classroom instruction in groups of 5 to 12 pupils resembles that offered in regular public schools, except that more attention is given to correlating music activities with academic subjects and with other aspects of the students' overall development. The emphasis is to follow simple directions, how to count groups of notes, and other elementary concepts are related in music classes. For example, different colors or numbers are used at times on melody bells, piano keys, or chord buttons of keyboards, and simple tunes are the reward for selecting proper numbers or colors. In classes for trainable students, emphasis is placed on developing language skills by using songs in which the child names the parts of his body, the foods he eats, or other objects common to his environment. Desirable activities such as self-care skills also are dramatized through action songs, and the potential to read is exercised by utilizing printed song sheets.

NEED FOR RECOGNITION

Retardates have many of the same basic needs, urges, and aspirations that normal people have. Their desire for social approval, personal recognition, prestige, and accomplishment within their own framework of attainment is as strong, and being given the exclusive attention of a teacher is an important factor in their lives.

The small minority of students who develop a comparatively long attention span, adequate physical coordination, and have music skills are admitted to vocal or instrumental ensembles. As members of organized performing groups, students play or sing individual parts in literature which is carefully tailored by the band so that they can within their capabilities to perform, learn, and remember. Specially arranged literature is one of the key factors in developing performance groups such as these.

The tunes are listed below, and the music speaks for itself, but you might learn especially to the excerpts from Givers for the meter changes, which offer a special challenge to any school performers, and for the rhythm section in Call, particularly the bass line that's played by Andy, who is also the vocalist in Nice 'n' Easy. Jack's drumming is featured throughout the whole side, and Glen Tafi's arrangement of Heaven Fire On a is a good example of what's necessary before the ensemble can even begin to sound like a band. You should know also that the bassline home is played by Gail, who has perfect pitch and can play almost anything the brass group a little time to work on it.

The Chorus is made up of six female and six male members, all blind, as is most De Leo, the Director. How they manage entrances, endings, and key changes without the help of accompanying instruments is beyond me. Sharon and Andy, both heard singing with the band, are the chorus soloists, also.

SEASONED PERFORMERS

"Heard by millions on television and radio, by thousands in "live" performances, and with the accolade of an appearance at the request of the late President John F. Kennedy in Washington, D.C., and a show-stopping performance before an audience of 2500 including several members of Congress and Cabinet members, the reputation of this fine group of performers is nationally known. . . . Few indeed are the ensembles chosen to appear on the Ed Sullivan show. . . . Even fewer make it to the White House, and if that same band is invited to play at the New York World's Fair is well, its caliber must be very high. The band is being proud that all this study and varied potentialities have been rewarded can be realized through affectionate care and teaching."

Here for your listening pleasure is the original soundtrack from American International's humorous tale of how one student wrought his delightful revenge on the college president for expelling him from school. The film's music was written and conducted by Don Randi. Randi, known for his many movie credits, including one of AIP's most recent popular pictures, "Bloody Mama." He has most recently scored the film "The Racing Scene" for which Joe South has recorded Dory's title song entitled "Why Does A Man Do What He Has To Do?" Although he doesn't get much time between scoring chores to perform, Randi is also known for his artistry as a contemporary jazz pianist with the Don Randi Trio. He has also played piano and arranged for enumerable recording artists, such as The Righteous Bros., Neil Diamond and Sonny and Cher. In addition, he has scored many television shows, including the 1970 Raquel Welch Special and the 1968 Summer Olympics for which he received an award.

This Don Randi score is further enhanced by an original composition "Didn't I Turn Out Nice?" written by prolific composer, Dory Previn ("Come Saturday Morning," 1969 Academy Award nominee song). Miss Previn's composition is sung by Hamilton Camp with an arrangement by Don Randi.

Legions of blackness march

Cross the sky
With sword and arrow
They pluck out the eye
Now feeble and groping
With bleeding fingers
We claw
Hoping, yes praying
For light from some flaw.

In the Id sound of The Third Rail, you might find that light, that truth. Not as a revelation, but subtly. Through sound and word it is our attempt to approach Conrad's "Heart of Darkness."

Knowing full well that truth can be a savage, primitive jungle from which there is no return, and to look upon one's self is to look upon the face of Medusa. We ask you to squint. We have placed songs as mirrors to reflect, in an aquinian sense, the world.

Scratch away the makeup of a clown and you'll find a tear. The audience laughs while the comic relates his pointed tales. He is Diogenes' light. We are shadows in it. Too bright to stare at, too much to see, we laugh.

Humor is our tool. Perhaps The Third Rail can scratch away your makeup. The Id movement is an introspective extension in sound. Although it is a straw, it is a beginning. A newly installed up-botton on the elevator to the ninth circle. Now all we must do is press it. Press it with The Third Rail.

The legions are thorough
And all eyes are blind
Now visions of monsters
Inhibit the mind.

Idea and Music Composed by BOB MATTHEWS

A very special thanks to Ray Puhos, who helped make this album possible.

Music is a formulation of words and melody which expresses ideas, feelings, and moods which, once captured in a rhythmic, harmonic, and melodic form of communication, has given it a new dimension. A personality—his own. He has successfully defined and colorfully illustrated his individual creative mood which entitles him to identify one creative college of students—as a subtle representation of his talent and is understood and defined in a style as only he can. You might call it the musical reflection of a soul.

If he did deserve belief that he has longingly captured the unique character and sensitive personality of Bob Matthews on this album.

One does not have to be a fortune teller to be perceptive enough to know what the future holds for this artist. It is something we feel you will definitely sense. So—listen and enjoy an experience you'll long remember as you accompany Bob Matthews on his Maiden Voyage.

Eric,

When one confronts a higher world daily a certain air comes, electrified. They, on top beams plus the usual heavy grooves and "sacred" etc.

There is no one word or combination of words that can adequately capture the moment and feeling that you and your friends have put together on this album with the generation of a superlative to our lesson. — Eric Mercury.

Dear Eric:

Have been up all night trying to write some damn free notes.

Have listed twenty pages with words of friendship, respect, pride, love, good times and hard times, such as: right, love, Smitty, Mouse, Steve, Diane, Whitley, Tom, Joe and all the rest. Words about Satchel, Hamilton, Willie Joe, Toronto and Montreal, Summit, 2nd, Will Vining, 2nd Street and the Chasing Hotel.

We are in the morning and I've just realized this album of yours was it all and then some, so I feel with the liner notes brother I'm going to sleep.

Esther—Mordecai—Haman: The heroine, hero and villain of a drama that was performed in real life many years ago in the ancient Persian city of Shushan.

And how could such a story not be loved through the Ages! Its situation, tragic-comic, and its characters wonderfully described and intensely human...we become involved with a classic melodrama that eventually received a religious sanction.

PURIM—IN STORY AND SONG bridges the gap between appreciation of comic melodrama and serious reflection over the miraculous redemption of a culture—a culture that has had such profound influence in modern times.

The songs of Purim are folk songs transmitting the nostalgia of olden times and the vitality and pulsating rhythms of the modern Israeli Hora.

This record, brings to life for young and old, the feeling, nostalgia and drama of an exciting story: The Megillah—The Book of Esther—The meaning of Purim then and now.

Here's a soundtrack album as exciting as the picture it came from! It's the great "Thunder Alley" ... the American International thriller that features Fabian and Annette Funicello, Diane McBain and Warren Berlinger, and Jan Murray in some of the tensest scenes in film history. And that's what this music is all about. There's the sensational new group "The Band Without a Name," heard here for the first time in an album, setting the action in the "Thunder Alley Theme" and returning for another performance in "Time After Time."

Here is the theme music for "Calahan" (Fabian), the dauntless young race driver who kills another driver in a reckless accident and finds that he must risk his life, time-and-again, in an effort to win back his fame and reputation. There are songs by Annette, and the background music from the wild, wild "Mud Fight," played by Mike Curb's group, "The Sidewalk Sounds," who swing through a number of other selections, including the closing theme.

Mike Curb is, of course, the young man who scored the famous "Wild Angels" and award-winning "Skaterdater" films. He directs this music that helps to make "Thunder Alley" a thrill-a-minute epic that you'll never forget.

A. A. ALLEN PREACHING

"GOD

A. A. ALLEN
RECORDINGS
NO. 207

ANOTHER GREAT

"I WAS SAVED IN ONE SERVICE AFTER HEARING THE SERMON"

WHO IS A. A. ALLEN?

- He is one of the most influential evangelists in the world today.
- He is a Pentecostal minister known to millions around the world as "God's Man of Faith and Power."
- He is Editor and Publisher of Ministry Magazine, a monthly publication now being sent free to multitudes in every corner of the globe — read by representatives of all major-quester million persons.
- He is the author of more than fifty books, covering every phase of Faith — Christian living — healing — demography.
- A minister who dared to break away from the tradition of the elders to preach the same message that Jesus preached.
- It has been said that beyond a million miles, there was no prayer of faith for the healing and deliverance of more people than any other known evangelist alive in the world today.

- New headlines of the Atlanta Constitution, dated May 5, 1969, "The Holiest Faith Healer in America Since Dr. Rebecka Hunt and Jesus the Nazareth Christ."
- According to TIME Magazine in an article dated March 7, 1969, this evangelist is probably the best known so-called "faith healer" in the nation today.
- He is a man who failed and prayed until he was able to receive power and authority over all sicknesses and to cast out devils. A recognized authority on demon oppression and possession. He is said to have cast out more demons than any other minister in the world today.
- Many times, thousands answer a single article following Rev. Allen's preaching. It has been estimated that he is the extremely close schedule of more people than any other minister actively born in his services than in any other campaign in the world.

- Already this year, his voice has been heard in approximately 22,000 quarter-hour radio programs, and 2,300 thirty-minute telecasts.
- He is writing to fulfill Christ's Great Commission through daily broadcasts, weekly telecasts, various radio shows, national ministries (sometimes three or more times a day), published sermons in books, books, and Ministry Magazine. It is doubtful that any other man alive is preaching the gospel of power to more people than Evangelist Allen.
- He is probably the first to reach to multitudes the great message, "Power to God's Faithful, Now You Can Have It." God has given him the ability of delivering people from the demons of poverty, and bestowing the Holy Spirit on the poor. He is the greatest evangelist that God sends His people. He is the man who has been called the "Minister of the Gentiles."

- He is Founder and President of Ministry Revival Fellowship, an international Pentecostal fellowship of approximately 15,000 ministers.
- He is Chairman of the Board of Directors of A. A. Allen Revivals, Inc. with headquarters in Miracle Valley, Arizona. The fastest growing revival camp meeting center in the world.
- A. A. Allen is Founder and President of Miracle Valley Bible College in Miracle Valley, Arizona, and of Miracle Valley Bible College in the Philippines.
- THE QUICKEST WAY to get a prayer request to Evangelist Allen is to write the current column in this magazine. We will place your prayer request wherever it fits best in Ministry Magazine. We will post the prayer request in the "Personal Attention of Rev. A. A. Allen."
- He is the author of the first preachers to extricate agonized deacons and continue to be successful in an inter-

- national ministry as an independent or organizational minister, exposing the sins of deacons.
- He is no doubt the first evangelist on a national and international scale to preach integrity to mixed multitudes in both North and South, and be successful in integrating the race in worship under his huge open tent. It has been declared by leaders that the Allen Campaign is a preaching hour more than to make all people "one" than any other single effort in the nation of the world. Billions of prayers, along with together, and all new converts are baptized in the huge baptistry under the tent.
- He has set the goal for Ministry Magazine. Revival world-wide. He has one of the world's leading evangelists. He has the largest circulation of any of the Pool of Bethesda Faith Clinic, where sick and afflicted may come to obtain divine healing and teaching for healing and deliverance.

JAMES ROBINSON

I consider Bobby Mankin and his running mate, Joe Lee Kirkpatrick to be the greatest conversions I have witnessed in my seven year ministry. I have had the privilege of seeing over 40,000 accept Jesus Christ, and Bobby Mankin and Joe Lee Kirkpatrick are without a question, the greatest examples of the saving power of God. Bobby's testimony is like another page in the book of Acts. God worked a miracle in his life as He did in the life of Saul of Tarsus. Bobby did not stop with the acceptance of Jesus Christ. He has continued to press toward the high calling of the Lord Jesus.

He is a dynamic preacher. He is the greatest witness for Christ you could ever hope to meet. Hear this testimony prayerfully and share it with your friends. Let God speak to you through Bobby's life.

A MIRACLE OF NEW-FOUND SIGHT

Strange what new-found sight can do. Here is a person who moves into a world of darkness and despair, away from the father's home . . . to a far country. The atmosphere of this distant land is permeated with passing pleasures, momentary thrills and fleeting friendships. A young man steps into this life of darkness. He is surrounded by delinquency—becomes a part of its problem and propagation. Then, he is caught in the blight of dope addiction. Round this story out and have the tragic record written on police files and etched on a life, tragic consequences of a prodigal's plight.

"But while he is yet a great way off, his father said him - 'Bobby Marlan had heavenly eyes upon him when he seemed as if no one cared or was looking for him. This youth unreachably was not far from me.' And he said to himself, 'I shall find him.' And he found him in Houston. Christ touched the eyes of his soul and brought amazing sight. Now this unusual young man becomes an instrument of divine healing, restoring sight to so many who are spiritually blind. Yet, a miracle in itself is not the greater purpose of Christ. Beyond the healing of the blind, the purpose of this amazing Christ is to bring to the world the message of the Kingdom of God. Bobby Marlan seeks to introduce others to Him through a unique concern for others, direct and biblical preaching combined with a fervent prayer life. Understand him to you. That is the way you seek to bring him to Mr. Meador."

THE INVISIBLE WALL

A Contact Record
Produced, recorded, and edited by Myles Jackson
Associate Producer: Robert Mack

We learn from what we hear—as well as from what we see. Moreover, we learn from the feeling with which words are spoken—as well as from the words themselves. This is especially true if the subject is prejudice. Feeling becomes an important part of the meaning which the words communicate.

This record is alive with the feelings and words of real people talking naturally and informally—without script—about prejudice: what it is, how it affects people, and what, if anything, can be done about it. These people, mostly young ones, from many different backgrounds express their own feelings and ideas—sometimes haltingly, sometimes coherently, but never with indifference.

They were recorded at work and at play—on the busiest corner in the world and in a soda shop, in a factory and on a subway train. But the discussions themselves are not unique: they are the kind that any classroom may produce when students are moved to express their thoughts and their feelings freely.

SIDE ONE

Band 1: General Introduction
(6:40)

Band 2: What Is Prejudice? (3:27)

In New York's Times Square, people of different ages and racial backgrounds comment on what prejudice means to them. Two of them make their comment by describing real experiences with prejudice in action.

Band 3: Rock 'n' Rollers Speak Up
(9:52)

In a dance hall where they are tuning up, members of the Moe's Arts rock 'n' roll band talk about prejudices against long hair—and dark skin. They also raise—and offer their own answers to—some pertinent questions: How do people get prejudiced? Will there always be prejudice—or will people change? If so, who will bring about the change?

Band 4: Boycott (12:56)

This is an on-the-spot picture—in sound—of the boycott of the New York Athletic Club track meet at Madison Square Garden by black athletes. There are five parts: (1) a press conference where Professor Harry Edwards of San Jose State College explains the purpose of the boycott; (2) the questioning of members of the New York Athletic Club and others on a sidewalk outside the Club building; (3) an interview—on a subway train going to Madison Square Garden—with an outstanding black athlete who supports the boycott; (4) picketing and disruption on the sidewalks outside the Garden; (5) comments on the boycott by spectators inside the Garden—where the track meet is going on (with most of the black athletes missing).

This segment suggests in words and tone what prejudice is and how it is manifested. It also raises questions—and debate—about effective ways of combating it.

SIDE TWO

Band 1: The Machine: Age vs. Youth (6:14)

Old and young machinists in the Standard Pressed Steel Company, Jenkintown, Pennsylvania, discuss prejudice as it relates to change, old ways as opposed to new ways, and the generation gap.

Band 2: What Should You Do
About Prejudice? (2:41)

A varied group of people—in on-the-street interviews—tell what they think should be done to combat prejudice.

Band 3: Some Problems of Teenagers (4:45)

Students from different racial and national groups offer advice on problems of prejudice posed in actual letters to Scope magazine. The first problem concerns a dropout; the second, a boy with pimples. Both letters suggest the harm that is done when people are labelled and looked at as members of a group rather than as individuals.

Band 4: Teachers: Prejudiced and Unprejudiced (4:08)

Students talk about prejudiced and unprejudiced teachers they have known—and how teachers can help free the minds of their students from prejudice.

Band 5: Summary (2:24)

THE SINGING MIDGET and The Crusaders

Sing For God and Country

Lowell and Judy Mason and daughter, Kelly Grace.

LOWELL MASON, The Singing Midget, first began his musical career singing in the church where his father was minister. Since that beginning in 1944 Lowell Mason has traveled and sung in nearly every state as well as in Canada. Because of his unique size, winning personality and singing ability, he is in great demand for all types of religious functions, greater than he can accommodate.

Lowell sings on all the radio and television programs called "Revival Fires", which is produced by the Christian Evangelists Association of Joplin, Missouri, directed by Evangelist Cecil Todd. His record albums are played daily by radio stations throughout the continent.

Crusade records are pleased to release this fine album by this Little Man with the Big Voice and we feel you will be glad you have one in your record collection.

Assisting Mr. Mason on this LP are THE CRUSADERS of Illinois. Lowell and The Crusaders have been close friends for many years and traveled together over much of the country singing in auditorium and church concerts, revival meetings and making T.V. appearances.

The Crusaders limit their travels now, as they have developed the Crusade Enterprises. This company is dedicated to the religious field and they supply a gospel artist with everything that is necessary in the production of a record album. They operate their own recording studio and provide background music and A & R assistance.

Besides assisting with vocal arrangements on this record, they have added various instruments.

The artwork on the CD cover depicts a fantastical scene. In the upper half, two figures are suspended in the air, holding onto a large, glowing, multi-colored umbrella-like object. They are set against a dark, starry sky. Below them, a bright, yellow and orange horizon line separates the dark sky from a dark, reflective surface that looks like water. The overall mood is mysterious and ethereal.

MANSFIELD TRAINING SCHOOL

BAND AND CHORUS

RETARDED CHILDREN
CAN BE HELPED

The Mansfield Training School, located on 1078 acres of rolling countryside in Eastern Connecticut, is the State's oldest residential facility for the mentally retarded. Mansfield is recognized both nationally and internationally as one of the world's great centers for the care, education and training of the mentally retarded. At Mansfield, emphasis is placed upon helping retarded children and adults reach their highest physical and mental potential.

Mr. Joseph Romeo, Mansfield's Director of Music, has surrounded himself with the school's finest musicians and presents an album of music and song that is a fresh listening experience and further proof of the potential of the mentally retarded.

I learned one of the reasons why the Mansfield Training School has earned a reputation as a national leader among institutions for the mentally retarded while I was preparing a case study of their music program for presentation at the 1970 meeting of the International Society for Music Education in Moscow, Russia. At that time I was privileged to see the entire music curriculum in action - behind the scenes as well as finished performances - and it was a real revelation.

People from as far away as Japan have come to observe this program. If you've seen the televised messages sponsored by the National Association for Retarded Children, you've seen some of the musicians who are recorded here. Maybe you own their first recording, done a few years ago, or saw them at the Special Olympics for the Mentally Retarded in Chicago. They've been there twice, the second time under the sponsorship of some of the Notre Dame alumni. (Listen for the Notre Dame Victory Song in the first appendix.) If you live in the Northeast, you may have seen them in person, because they have about sixty appearances annually in public schools and at other civic events.

Their reception in Moscow was also enthusiastic. Although the Russians had no new slides and heard tapes and commentary on the program, a delegation sought me out and asked me to convey to the people of the United States that the Mansfield music program embodies their own ideals of music for everyone, no matter what their handicaps.

And handicapped they are. Except for the instructional staff who joined the band to make this recording (Edward Gerry, Instrumental Instructor; William Nemeroff, band director; Glenn Taff, Accompanist and Arranger; and Joseph Romeo, Director of Music), almost all the performers are blind in addition to being retarded. These are not professional musicians, but retardates being prepared to return to their home communities where they can function with the help of family and community services. That they are given the opportunity to make music at all is due largely to the perspicacity of Frances P. Kelley, Superintendent of Mansfield Training School. The fact that they do it with such polish is absolutely amazing.

It's also important to understand that while these groups represent the peak of the music program, they do not represent the entire music program. Some less well-known activities are described in this excerpt from the formal study done for the UNESCO-sponsored Moscow Conference.

SCHOOL MUSIC PROGRAM

The music program operates at several levels through the work of the four staff members mentioned above and Gertrude De Leo and Shirley Mogilnicki, Vocal and Classroom Instructors. Some of the residents receiving music therapy are completely helpless, physically malformed individuals who will be institutionalized indefinitely. In some cases, music is one of the few things in their lives to which they respond. It serves as the stimulus that elevates them from an ordinarily routine institutional existence, offers them enjoyment, and motivates them to beneficial physical movements. Activities set to music at this level lead toward objectives which seem to us to be extremely simple which are major tasks for the severely and profoundly retarded. An apparently easy task such as clapping the hands requires a great deal of concentration and coordination. Some participate by playing rhythm instruments, an even greater accomplishment, since this requires them to grasp and hold an object in their hands.

Classroom instruction in groups of 3 to 12 pupils resembles that offered in regular public schools, except that more attention is given to correlating music activities with academic subjects and with other aspects of the students' overall development. The aim is to follow simple direction, how to count groups of notes, and other elementary concepts are reinforced in music classes. For example, different colors or numbers are used at times on melody bells, piano keys, or chord buttons of autumats, and simple tunes are the reward for selecting proper numbers or colors. In classes for trainable students, emphasis is placed on developing language skills by using songs in which the child names the parts of his body, the foods he eats, or other objects common to his environment. Desirable activities such as self-care skills also are dramatized through action songs, and the potential to read is covered by utilizing printed song sheets.

NEED FOR RECOGNITION

Retardates have many of the same basic needs, urges, and aspirations that normal people have. Their desire for social approval, personal recognition, prestige, and accomplishment with their own names on their namesake is as strong, and being given the exclusive attention of a teacher is an important factor in their lives.

The small minority of students who develop a comparatively long attention span, adequate physical coordination, and basic music skills are admitted to more advanced instrumental ensembles. As members of organized performing groups, students play or sing individual parts in literature which is carefully tailored by the music faculty to develop their capabilities to perform, learn, and remember. Musically arranged literature is one of the key factors in within performing groups such as these.

The tunes are listed below, and the music speaks for itself, but you might listen especially to the excerpts from Garden for the meter changes, which offer a special challenge for any school performers; and for the rhythm section in Gate, particularly the bass line that's played by Andy, who is also the vocalist in Nice 'n Easy. Galt's drumming is first-rate throughout the whole side, and Glen Taff's arrangement of Handful First-O-Is is a good example of what's necessary for the ensemble to begin to sound like a band. You should know also that the baritone horn is played by Galt, who has perfect pitch and can play almost anything the heart gives a little time to work on it.

The Chorus is made up of six female and six male members, all blind, as is Miss De Leo, the Director. How they manage entrances, endings, and key changes without the help of accompanying instruments is beyond me. Sharon and Andy, both heard singing with the Band, are the choral soloists, also.

SEASONED PERFORMERS

"Heard by millions on television and radio, by thousands in 'live' performances, and with the accolade of an appearance at the request of the late President John F. Kennedy in Washington, D.C., and a show-stopping performance before an audience of 2500 including several members of Congress and Cabinet members, the reputation of the fine group of youngsters is nationally known. . . . Few indeed are the ensembles chosen to appear on the Ed Sullivan show. Even fewer make it to the White House, and if that same band is invited to play at the New York World's Fair as well, its caliber must be very high. The band is living proof that all the many and varied potentials of the retarded can be realized through affectionate care and teaching."

Here for your listening pleasure is the original soundtrack from American International's humorous tale of how one student wrought his delightful revenge on the college president for expelling him from school. The film's music was written and conducted by Don Randi. Randi, known for his many movie credits, including one of AIP's most recent popular pictures, "Bloody Mama." He has most recently scored the film "The Racing Scene" for which Joe South has recorded Don's title song entitled "Why Does A Man Do What He Has To Do?" Although he doesn't get much time between scoring chores to perform, Randi is also known for his artistry as a contemporary jazz pianist with the Don Randi Trio. He has also played piano and arranged for enumerable recording artists, such as The Righteous Bros., Neil Diamond and Sonny and Cher. In addition, he has scored many television shows, including the 1970 Raquel Welch Special and the 1968 Summer Olympics for which he received an award.

This Don Randi score is further enhanced by an original composition "Didn't I Turn Out Nice?" written by prolific composer, Dory Previn ("Come Saturday Morning," 1969 Academy Award nominee song). Miss Previn's composition is sung by Hamilton Camp with an arrangement by Don Randi.

Legions of blackness march

Cross the sky

With sword and arrow

They pluck out the eye

Now feeble and groping

With bleeding fingers

We claw

Hoping, yes praying

For light from some flaw.

In the Id sound of The Third Rail, you might find that light, that truth. Not as a revelation, but subtly. Through sound and word it is our attempt to approach Conrad's "Heart of Darkness."

Knowing full well that truth can be a savage, primitive jungle from which there is no return, and to look upon one's self is to look upon the face of Medusa. We ask you to squint. We have placed songs as mirrors to reflect, in an aquinian sense, the world.

Scratch away the makeup of a clown and you'll find a tear. The audience laughs while the comic relates his pointed tales. He is Diogenes' light. We are shadows in it. Too bright to stare at, too much to see, we laugh.

Humor is our tool. Perhaps The Third Rail can scratch away your makeup. The Id movement is an introspective extension in sound. Although it is a straw, it is a beginning. A newly installed up-button on the elevator to the ninth circle. Now all we must do is press it. Press it with The Third Rail.

The legions are thorough

And all eyes are blind

Now visions of monsters

Inhibit the mind.

Music is a formulation of words and melody which expresses ideas, feelings, and moods which, when coupled with rhythm, becomes an entertaining form of communication. But now, someone has gone a step beyond that. Bob Matthews, through his original compositions and musical artistry, has given it a new dimension. A personality—his own. He has successfully defined and colorfully illustrated his individual creative moods which emanate in his refreshingly uncommon collage of material—an audible representation of his inner self is unrestricted and delivered in a style as only his can. You might call it the musical reflection of a soul.

It is our sincere belief that we have tangibly captured the unique character and sensitive personality of Bob Matthews on this album.

Time does not have to be a fortune teller to be perceptive enough to foresee what the future holds for this artist. If he is something we feel you will definitely sense. So—relax and enjoy an experience you'll long remember as you accompany Bob Matthews on his Maiden Voyage.

ERIC MERCURY

DAVID CLAYTON THOMAS

JERRY HYMAN

Eric,
When one confronts the music world daily a certain lexicon is established: "real," "on top," "swine," plus the usual heavy "groovy" and "spaced" etc.
crap-UP.

There is no one word or combination of words that can adequately capture the moment and feeling that you and your friends have put together on this album with the exception of a supersuperlative to our lexicon... Eric Mercury.

Peace

Blood, Sweat and Tears

New York City, Wednesday, July 9, 1969

Dear Eric:
Have been up all night trying to write some damn liner notes.

Have filled twenty pages with words of friendship, respect, artistry, soul, good times and hard times, dues, all night jams, Smitty, Mouse, Steve, Diane, Whitley, Troy, Jay and all the rest.
Words about Sudbury, Hamilton, Stowe, Jay,
Toronto and Montreal, Sunset Strip, Mill Valley,
23rd Street and the Chelsea Hotel.

It's six in the morning and I've just realized this album of yours says it all and then some, so, to hell with the liner notes brother I'm going to sleep

Esther—Mordecai—Haman: The heroine, hero and villain of a drama that was performed in real life many years ago in the ancient Persian city of Shushan.

And how could such a story not be loved through the Ages! Its situation, tragic-comic, and its characters wonderfully described and intensely human...we become involved with a classic melodrama that eventually received a religious sanction.

PURIM—IN STORY AND SONG bridges the gap between appreciation of comic melodrama and serious reflection over the miraculous redemption of a culture—a culture that has had such profound influence in modern times.

The songs of Purim are folk songs transmitting the nostalgia of olden times and the vitality and pulsating rhythms of the modern Israeli Hora.

This record, brings to life for young and old, the feeling, nostalgia and drama of an exciting story: The Megillah—The Book of Esther—The meaning of Purim then and now.

This CORAL Large Play Microgroove Unbreakable Record can be played only on 33 1/3 RPM instruments. For maximum protection, it should be kept in this protective envelope, away from heat.

Here's a soundtrack album as exciting as the picture it came from! It's the great "Thunder Alley" ... the American International thriller that features Fabian and Annette Funicello, Diane McBain and Warren Berlinger, and Jan Murray in some of the tensest scenes in film history. And that's what this music is all about. There's the sensational new group "The Band Without a Name," heard here for the first time in an album, setting the action in the "Thunder Alley Theme" and returning for another performance in "Time After Time."

Here is the theme music for "Calahan" (Fabian), the dauntless young race driver who kills another driver in a reckless accident and finds that he must risk his life, time-and-again, in an effort to win back his fame and reputation. There are songs by Annette, and the background music from the wild, wild "Mud Fight," played by Mike Curb's group, "The Sidewalk Sounds," who swing through a number of other selections, including the closing theme.

Mike Curb is, of course, the young man who scored the famous "Wild Angels" and award-winning "Skaterdater" films. He directs this music that helps to make "Thunder Alley" a thrill-a-minute epic that you'll never forget.

BOB and BARBARA CLINE

Barbara sings "He'll Lead You Home" and Bob sings "Why". Both of these songs were written by Mildred Drury and are being published by Rainbow Publishing Company, a division of Rainbow Sound, Inc.

JAMES ROBISON

I consider Bobby Mankin and his running mate, Joe Lee Kirkpatrick to be the greatest conversions I have witnessed in my seven year ministry. I have had the privilege of seeing over 40,000 accept Jesus Christ, and Bobby Mankin and Joe Lee Kirkpatrick, are without a question, the greatest examples of the saving power of God. Bobby's testimony is like another page in the book of Acts. God worked a miracle in his life as He did in the life of Saul of Tarsus. Bobby did not stop with the acceptance of Jesus Christ. He has continued to press toward the high calling of the Lord Jesus.

He is a dynamic preacher. He is the greatest witness to prayerful you could ever hope to meet. Hear this testimony prayerfully and share it with your friends. Let God speak to you through Bobby's life.

A MIRACLE OF NEW-FOUND SIGHT

Strange what new-found sight can do. Here is a person who moves into a world of darkness and despair, away from the father's home to a far country. The atmosphere of this distant land is penetrated with passing pleasures, momentary thrills and fleeting friendships. A young man steps into this life of darkness. He is surrounded by delinquency—becomes a part of its problem and propagation. Then, he is caught in the blight of dope addiction. Round this story out and have the tragic record written on police files and etched on a life: tragic consequences of a prodigal's plight.

"But while he was yet a great way off, his Father saw him . . . Bobby Mankin had heavenly eyes upon him when it seemed as if no one cared or was looking his way. This youth unreachable was not beyond the reach of his Father because he recognized this amazing Christ in Houston. Christ touched the eyes of his soul and brought amazing sight. Now this young man should become an instrument of divine light, restoring sight to so many who are spiritually blind.

Yet, a miracle in itself is not the greater part of wonder. Beyond and behind each miracle the audience recognizes this amazing Christ. Bobby Mankin seeks to introduce others to Him through a unique concern for others, direct and biblical teaching combined with a fervent appeal. I commend him to you and to those whom you seek to bring to the Master.

Associate Producer: Robert Mack

We learn from what we hear—as well as from what we see. Moreover, we learn from the feeling with which words are spoken—as well as from the words themselves. This is especially true if the subject is prejudice. Feeling becomes an important part of the meaning which the words communicate.

This record is alive with the feelings and words of real people talking naturally and informally—without script—about prejudice: what it is, how it affects people, and what, if anything, can be done about it. These people, mostly young ones, from many different backgrounds express their own feelings and ideas—sometimes haltingly, sometimes coherently, but never with indifference.

They were recorded at work and at play—on the busiest corner in the world and in a soda shop, in a factory and on a subway train. But the discussions themselves are not unique: they are the kind that any classroom may produce when students are moved to express their thoughts and their feelings freely.

SIDE ONE

Band 1: General Introduction
(0:40)

Band 2: What Is Prejudice? (3:27)

In New York's Times Square, people of different ages and racial backgrounds comment on what prejudice means to them. Two of them make their comment by describing real experiences with prejudice in action.

Band 3: Rock 'n' Rollers Speak Up (9:52)

In a dance hall where they are tuning up, members of the Moe's Arts rock 'n' roll band talk about prejudices against long hair—and dark skin. They also raise—and offer their own answers to—some pertinent questions: How do people get prejudiced? Will there always be prejudice—or will people change? If so, who will bring about the change?

Band 4: Boycott (12:56)

This is an on-the-spot picture—in sound—of the boycott of the New York Athletic Club track meet at Madison Square Garden by black athletes. There are five parts: (1) a press conference where Professor Harry Edwards of San Jose State College explains the purpose of the boycott; (2) the questioning of members of the New York Athletic Club and others on a sidewalk outside the Club building; (3) an interview—on a subway train going to Madison Square Garden—with an outstanding black athlete who supports the boycott; (4) picketing and disruption on the sidewalks outside the Garden; (5) comments on the boycott by spectators inside the Garden—where the track meet is going on (with most of the black athletes missing).

This segment suggests in words and tone what prejudice is and how it is manifested. It also raises questions—and debate—about effective ways of combatting it.

SIDE TWO

Band 1: The Machinists: Age vs. Youth (6:14)

Old and young machinists in the Standard Pressed Steel Company, Jenkintown, Pennsylvania, discuss prejudice as it relates to change, old ways as opposed to new ways, and the generation gap.

Band 2: What Should You Do About Prejudice? (2:41)

A varied group of people—in on-the-street interviews—tell what they think should be done to combat prejudice.

Band 3: Some Problems of Teenagers (4:45)

Students from different racial and national groups offer advice on problems of prejudice posed in actual letters to Scope magazine. The first problem concerns a dropout; the second, a boy with pimples. Both letters suggest the harm that is done when people are labelled and looked at as members of a group rather than as individuals.

Band 4: Teachers: Prejudiced and Unprejudiced (4:08)

Students talk about prejudiced and unprejudiced teachers they have known—and how teachers can help free the minds of their students from prejudice.

Band 5: Summary (2:24)

THE SINGING MIDGET and The Crusaders

Sing For God and Country

Lowell and Judy Mason and daughter, Kelly Groce.

LOWELL MASON, The Singing Midget, first began his musical career singing in the church where his father was minister. Since that beginning in 1944 Lowell Mason has traveled and sung in nearly every state as well as in Canada. Because of his unique size, winning personality and singing ability, he is in great demand for all types of religious functions, greater than he can accommodate.

Lowell sings on all the radio and television programs called "Revival Fires", which is produced by the Christian Evangelizers Association of Joplin, Missouri directed by Evangelist Cecil Todd. His record albums are played daily by radio stations throughout the continent.

Crusade records are pleased to release this fine album by this Little Man with the Big Voice and we feel you will be glad you have one in your record collection.

Roy Harris, Pres.

Assisting Mr. Mason on this LP are THE CRUSADERS of Illinois. Lowell and The Crusaders have been close friends for many years and traveled together over much of the country singing in auditorium and church concerts, revival meetings and making T.V. appearances.

The Crusaders limit their travels now, as they have developed the Crusade Enterprises. This company is dedicated to the religious field and they supply a gospel artist with everything that is necessary in the production of a record album. They operate their own recording studio and provide background music and A & R assistance.

Besides assisting with vocal arrangements on this record, they have added various instruments.
